Gen. McLeer Takes Precautions Against Invasion---Mob Attacks a Car with Stones.

There is every prospect that the big trolley strike in Brooklyn will be speedily ended. The State Board of Arbitration which was to have met this afternoon, adjourned until to-morrow in order to confer upon terms with Presidents of the various roads.

It was said that a compromise would be effected which will embrace three dis-

Col. Austen said he did not anticipate trouble, but that he understood that Gen. McLeer's suggestion was made as a precaution.

puted points. President Partridge has signified his consent to making an agreement of some kind.

Master Workman Connelly said this afternoon that he would call the strike off if the presidents would agree to leave the matter to arbitration.

At the suggestion of Gen. McLeer, Commander of the Second Brigade State Militia, the commanders of all the regiments in Brooklyn have called for volunteers to guard the armories from possible invasion by strikers.

At the Thirtieth Regiment Armory about twenty-five of Col. Austen's men responded, and were there all of last night and to-day. Mayor Schieren is furnishing provisions, and the men do their own cooking, the commissary department of the regiment being com-as the strikers are concerned. It is expected that if an outbreak occurs it will be within the next twenty-four hours, and the Police Department fully realizes that it is in a poor condition to cope with anything like a well-organized mob.

This third day of the great trolley tie-up in Brooklyn began with every prospect for serious conflicts between the strikers and police before the day was ended.

The first sign of trouble occurred in Flatbush.

At 8 o'clock, as a mail car was going uptown on the Flatbush avenue line, it was attacked by a mob of about one hundred men, who hooted and jeered and riddled the windows with stones. The outbreak took place near Church lane. Luckily, there was nobody in the car.

The motorman turned on more current and soon was out of the reach of the strikers. No arrests were made.

The determination on the part of the railroad companies to run more cars, and the fact that all the tied-up lines have been engaging a large number of new hands, principally motormen and conductors, has given rise to the belief that a concerted attempt would be made to break the strike to-day.

The temper of the crowds was shown yesterday in the riots which occurred on the Fifth Avenue line of the Atlantic Avenue Company, and in the vicinity of the Flatbush depot, and to-day it will not be surprising if these disturbances ter in the present condition of the force should there be any general outbreak of lawlessness and violence.

Inspector Mackellar, who was in charge of Police Headquarters this morning, looked worried and anxious. He has had no rest at all this week.

"These are trying times," he said to an "Evening World" reporter this morning, "but we are doing the best we can and hope to suppress any trouble that may occur. The men, of course, are required to do a great deal of extra duty, but they expect this in such a case. All I can say at present is that we shall endeavor to meet any emergency as it arises."

The police reserves were called out from four precincts in Brooklyn early this morning with instructions to quell a riot in Flatbush. The news soon spread about town that rioting was in progress, and excitement was at fever heat for a time.

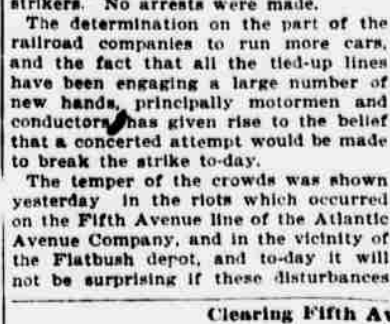

The "riot" consisted of half a dozen corner loafers gawking the crew of a passing car. One of them threw a stone which went far from the mark. In due course of time the stone was exaggerated into a shot, the latter into a volley, and the half dozen men into a regiment.

Cars Started on Fifth Avenue.

The officials of the Atlantic Avenue Company made heroic efforts all the morning to break the backbone of the strike on the Fifth Avenue line.

After 10 o'clock they had started seven cars from the depot at Twenty-fourth should become more widespread.

The police force is already overworked and has had its hands full in suppressing the disturbances which have already occurred. They have been on duty almost continuously for two days, and the men are becoming tired and disgruntled by the large amount of extra duty which has been imposed upon them.

Big Strain on the Police.

They number less than 1,500 men all told, and in order to protect so enormous a territory as that covered by the city of Brooklyn the resources of the force have been strained to the utmost.

Besides this, a large number of officers are now on the sick list, which has further diminished the efficiency of the force. It will become a very serious mat-street, six regulars and one mail car, and succeeded in getting them away without any interference from the strikers, the police still holding the crowds in check.

At the Court street line cars ran on regular schedule time, and hundreds of passengers were carried. Big crowds collected in City Hall Square and watched the cars as they passed by on their way to the ferry and the bridge.

The statements made yesterday by President Norton, of the Atlantic Avenue Company, that he proposed to begin operating all the lines of that system at noon to-day, was generally regarded as a forerunner of trouble. This would include the Adams street, Bergen street,

Butler street, Fifteenth street, Greenwood, Hicks street, Hoyt street, Park avenue, Seventh avenue and Vanderbilt avenue and West End Division.

It was reported during the morning that there were signs of activity at the car houses of all these lines, and it was generally believed that an attempt would be made to carry out this programme, at least on some of these lines.

Afraid of the Bridge.

It was announced, however, during the forenoon, that the Company had abandoned its idea of attempting to run cars over the Hamilton avenue bridge, which crosses the Gowanus Canal. This is an open bridge, and the vicinity is regarded as a very dangerous one. Large crowds of strikers and their supporters have been congregating there for two days past, and this morning it looked as if they were prepared to offer resistance if cars should be run over this route.

The inability of the police force to engaged in taking similar action with regard to the other companies affected by the strike. For this reason the meeting was adjourned.

After the meeting an "Evening World" reporter saw Mr. Feeney, who said that the other members of the Board were then with President Lewis and the directors of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, and at the conclusion of that conference they would endeavor to make an appointment with President Norton, of the Atlantic Avenue Company, and lay the matter before him.

"What concessions do the men offer to make?" he was asked.

"It would not be proper for me to state," was the reply. "I will say, however, that they are material. You understand, of course, that the concessions are of a general character, as all the roads are not run on the same plan and the details, if the railroads are disposed to settle the matter, would be arranged between the companies and their men."

From another source it was reported that the concessions involve three disputed points.

Late this afternoon it was reported that President Partridge had practically stated that he was willing to treat with the men and to accept the compromise that has been offered.

He expected to confer with the directors of his Company this evening, when the question will be definitely settled.

Mr. Feeney said later that he had strong hopes that the strike would be settled. He based his belief on the talks he had with the presidents of the railroads and the strike leaders.

At 12:30 this afternoon Car 122 left the Flatbush avenue station and started down town. Instead of two policemen it had five on board, and it was followed by a patrol wagon with ten or fifteen men in it, and a large coil of wire.

It was reported at the depot that some of the wires had been cut by the subsequent more cars were taken out considerably and those who remained, made no effort to interfere.

The Brooklyn elevated railroads reaped another rich harvest to-day. The stations on all the lines were crowded more densely than on any previous day of the strike.

This was the result of the rain and stormy weather, which discouraged walking and drove people to put up with the discomforts of the overcrowded "L" trains, and the delays and inconveniences attendant upon the enormously increased traffic.

During the early hours of the morning the service on the Kings County Elevated road was fairly good and the trains were kept moving steadily, although there were some delays. The number of trains had been largely increased, and everything was being done to accommodate the unusual pressure of travel.

On the various branches of the Brooklyn-Union road, however, the facilities afforded were wretched. There were blockades everywhere along the route, and the trains were packed so that passengers who had been able to get aboard found it almost impossible to get out.

Cost to the Companies.

The tie-up of the Brooklyn trolley lines is costing the companies a mint of money. It is estimated upon the basis of the figures furnished by the different companies of their average daily traffic, that they have been losing between $3,000 and $40,000 a day ever since the strike began.

It is estimated that the daily gross receipts of the Brooklyn City Company line are about $20,000. The Atlantic Avenue Company receives about $200 a day from passengers, and the De Kalb and Franklin avenue system about $3,500 a day.

It may be said that since the beginning of the week this revenue has been entirely cut off, so that the losses caused by the strike to the companies whose lines are tied-up in the three days ending to-night will be something like $100,000.

Of course their expenses for operating their lines have been cut down proportionately, for they have had no wages to pay since their men went out, and most of the depots have been closed up.

Wire Reported Cut.

At 12:30 this afternoon Car 122 left the Flatbush avenue station and started down town. Instead of two policemen it had five on board, and it was followed by a patrol wagon with ten or fifteen men in it, and a large coil of wire.

It was reported at the depot that some of the wires had been cut by the strikers, but at Police Headquarters no report had been made of such an occurrence.

The meeting of the State Board of Arbitration, which was to take place in the Aldermanic chamber of the City Hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon, was adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Commissioner Feeney in adjourning the meeting said that at a conference of the Board at the St. George Hotel to-day, the railroad employees had offered to make certain concessions which they had requested the Board to lay before the railroad officials.

The Board, he said, had already presented the matter to Col. Partridge, President of the Brooklyn City and Newtown Railroad Company, and was then striking, but at Police Headquarters no report had been made of such an occurrence.

The Strike May Be Compromised by Arbitration.

The meeting of the State Board of Arbitration, which was to take place in the Aldermanic chamber of the City Hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon, was adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Commissioner Feeney in adjourning the meeting said that at a conference of the Board at the St. George Hotel to-day, the railroad employees had offered to make certain concessions which they had requested the Board to lay before the railroad officials.

The Board, he said, had already presented the matter to Col. Partridge, President of the Brooklyn City and Newtown Railroad Company, and was then striking, but at Police Headquarters no report had been made of such an occurrence.
